HOW THE DAM BURST

Thrilling Narrative of the Arizona Flood.

Story of Two Prospectors Who Saw the Water Barrier Give Way.

Lives Would Have Been Saved Had Not a Courier Got Drunk.

Graphic Account of the Flood's Terrible Work in the Valley-Ample Aid for the Survivors.

By Telegraph to The Times. By Telegraph to The Times,

Phescort (Ariz.), Feb. 26.—[By the Associated Press.] The two prospectors who arrived from the upper Walnut Grove dam give a thrilling account of their experiences, give a thrilling account of their experiences. They are brothers and their names are Moses and Robert Moore. They are Scotchmen, and recently arrived here from the Colorado. When found they were engaged in cleaning fish for their supper, stating that they had secured enough fish from the wreck of the dam to last them ever since the disaster. Many of them were found 80 feet above the level of the creek on the sides of the bluffs. The brothers say they are the last two men who ever made the journey alive between the two dams. THROUGH THE ILL-PATED VALLEY. "We came up to the Hassayampa," one of the brothers a id, "from Wickenburg, prospecting all along the river. We left prospecting ail along the river. We left Wickenburg five days previous to the disaster. We passed several parties on the way who were prospecting, and who must have inevitably been lost. Three nights previous to the flood we camped with three men near the lower dam. They had a freighting outlit, consisting of several animals, and we afterward learned the men had esc. ped, but lost their outlit of animals, wagons, clothing and everything. They had been compelled to cross the river 37 times between the two dams. In some places it was waist deep. We were two dys coming from the lower to the upper dam. The last night, which was Wednesday, we camped about a mile below

with three men named Fenshaw, Packer and "Frenchy." Un Thursday it runed and "Frenchy." On Thursday it ruined heavily, and we came direct to the Walnut Grove dam, camping on the company's bank house. On Friday morning the water in the dam was rising at the rate of 18 inches an hour, with all the sluices open. Supt. Thomas Brown had 15 men employed all day in blasting out the waste waterway to increase its capacity to allow the escape of the water. The two big pipes at the bottom of the dam were also open and running to their fullest capacity. The water reached the bottom of the waste waterway, which is several feet lower than the top of the dam, about o'clock, and it ruisbed through it with such force that it washed out the sides and increased its wite to marry double what I was before. It kept increasing its width, washing mostly on the side cant the dam. In spite of the immense volume of water which went through this passage, it still continued to rise in the dam until 9 o'clock at night, when it commenced to pour over use top of the structure. 10 feet high, with at night when it commenced to pour over the top of the structure, 110 feet high, with a deafening sound, like the ocean beating against rocks. A DRUNKEN MESSENGER. "At 3 o'clock in the afternoon Supt. Brown, seeing that the dam must inevitably go, sent a messenger to the lower dam to notify the people of the danger, but he notify the people of the danger, but he stopped at a saloon on the road, and, becoming intoxic ted, failed to deliver his message, returning to the wreck of the dam next morning. The feeling against him was so strong there that he immediately left. Another messenger was sent at 830 in the evening, but owing to darkness and the fury of the storm he could m ke but slow progress, and was overtaken and drowned by the fived just as he neared the lower camp. Supt. Brown camped at the dam all night and watched the irresistible progress of the flood, but was powerless to do more than he had already done.

THE DAM GIVES WAY.
"We had gone to sleep, but about 12
'clock we were awakened by Brown callo'clock we were awakened by Brown calling to his foreman, Mr. Dwyer, 'Get up, Phil, I think the dam has broken.' Soon afterward there was a tremendous roar which was perfectly indescribable, and we arose and looking out saw the water rushing out of the dam. Inside of two hours the water had disappeared entirely from where it was from sixty to ninety feet deep. Dwyer took a lantern and worked his way down along the precipitous cliffs of the river about a mile, where a camp of miners had been located. His light attracted the attention of a man named Francis M. Parker on the opposite side of the stream, who

CALLED FOR HELP. "Dwyer could not see him in the darkness and it being impossible to reach him he reurned to the dam, and we two, accompanied turned to the dam, and we two, accompanied by a Mexican and an Italian, provided with ropes, went down to rescue him. We remained there until daylight without being able to reach him. At daylight we could see him away up on the side of the hill, 80 feet above the r.ver, among the brush. We called and motioned to him to come down to the stream. We threw a rope to him, but he was afraid to risk crossing with it. He had nothing but his underciothes on and his feet were bare and all cut and bruised from climbing among the rocks. We tied matches to a stone and threw them to him, when he built a fire and warmed himself, when we motioned to him to go up the steam, which he did, and was assisted across the wters and provided with cothing. He stated that, while he and his partners had previously been afraid the dam would break, they felt no fear whatever this time and had gone to bed feeling secure. During the night they were awakened by a sound as if some one had thrown a handful of stones against the cabin. He heard one of his partners jump out of bed and exclaim: 'MY GOD! WHAT IS THAT?"

afterward. The next moment he was lifted against the roof of the cabin, and he caught held of the rafters. The water formed an eddy where the cabin stood in a little cave, and the cabin was raised to the surface, and after fl-ating around in this eddy for a while, the roof was struck by a big wave and driven in against the bluff, when he seized some bushes and dragged himself out of the water, and rushed up the side of the hill, over the sharp and broken rocks, with all possible speed. He called and called for his partners, but the only answer that came back to him was the thundering roar of the torrent." afterward. The next moment he was lifted SCENES OF RUIN.

Continuing his own story, Moore said:
'After rescuing Parker we continued our earch down the canon, but found nothing search down the canon, but found nothing but dead fish and evidences of the greatest deviatation. The water line along the bluff, was clearly marked, as every particle of soil and vegotation had been swept away, leaving only lines defining the different strata of the rock, and they will remain there for years. Immense trees had been broken off, while the few left standing were stripped of all foliace, limbs and even their bark, leaving them bare poles.

AIDING THE SURVIVORS. "In a little side creek, tributary to the Hassayampa, on the east side, could be seen where the water had backed up severai hundred feet, and marks on the hills showed it to have been 100 feet deep."

Proffers of assistance from outside towns have alroady been received, but the present wants of survivors have been amply supplied. Goods in addition to those previously sent were forwarded from Prescott today, while a telegram from Phœuix announces that aid in the shape of ciothing and provisions had been sent from that place.

Many incidents of the disaster are re-Many incidents of the disaster are re-lated. One man was seen to start for a place of safety, and seeing that escape was impossible, bravely turned his face to the flood to meet his fate. Nothing was ever seen of him after he was struck by the water. Another man was seen going up the steep hill, and had reached a point about fity feet above the level of the river bank, when the mighty volume of water struck and killed him.

THE DAM A RICKETTY AFFAIR.
CHICAGO, Feb. 27.—In conversation with CHICAGO, Feb. 27.—In conversation with a News reporter tonight regarding the Arizona dam disaster, E. B. Priest, an engineer of Phomix, said the disaster was due to faulty construction.—Engineer Bates, first in charge of the work, proposed to have the spaces between the walls filled with concrete instead of loose rock, as was done. Because of the cost, sufficient cement was not used to make the wall and foundation secure. Priest examined the dam last June, and says it was leaking badly in the middle then. He asserts that the statements made as to the cost of the dam Are erroneous, and that as built it did not cost more than one hundred and fifty thousand dollars.

NEW YORK, Feb. 26.—[By the Associated Press.] The steamship Ems, which arrived today, encountered fierce gales and heavy seas on Friday and Saturday last. On Saturday a wrecked sailing vessel was passed. All of her masts were broken off and she was floundering around as though she could not obey her rudder. Nine men were seen not obey her rudder. Nine men were seen upon the wreck. Despite the terrible seas, Capt. Jungs had a boat lowered, and an officer and five men entered it to attempt a rescue. The boat immediately caps zed, and one of the crew was lost. Capt. Jungs thought it madness to make another attempt, and proceeded on his veyage.

movement the report says: "The Irish Republican Brotherhood had for its object the separation of Ireland from England by insurrection, and in the anticipation of that event its funds were largely used for the introduction of arms into Ireland. Paroell stated in his evidence that he always understood it was the practice of the brotherhood to assassinate traitors. A corresponding organization among Irish residents in America went by the name of the United Brotherhood or Clan-na-Gail. The object of the organization was to ald the Irish people in the attainment of the complete and absolute independence of Ireland by the overthrow of English domination, and the total separation from that country. It was to prepare unceasingly for armed insurrection and assist with money, war material and men."

and assist with money, war material and men."

The report speaks of proposals made by the Clan-na-Gael to the Irish Republican Brotherhood in 1878, which were rejected, the members being seft to their individual action, and says: "Although the proposals were not formally accepted by Parnell or the brotherhood, it appears to us to have formed the basis on which the American-Irish Nationalists afterward lent support to Parnell and his policy."

THE CITY BANK'S BOND. Councilman Hamilton, chairman of he Finance Committee, reported as follows:

To the Mayor and Common Council of the City of Los Angeles: Your Finance Committee, to whom was referred the bond of the City Bank for investigation, beg leave to report as follows:

We have investigated the same by reference to the assessment rolls for the years 1889-90, and find that they do not in our opinion show a sufficient amount assessed in the average surveillage in real and personal in the average surveillage.

to the several sureties, in real and persona property, to meet the requirements; we would, therefore, suggest the return of the bond to the City Bank for further sureties would, therefore, suggest the return of the bond to the City Bank for further sureties.

Mr. Childress addressed the Council upon the matter. He said he saw very plainly by the report the committee has followed suggestions made at the last meeting, "They have gone to the real-estate record and based their opinion of the sufficiency of the bond on the real-estate standing in their names. Some of the sames of the sureties are men who quantity as to real estate, but they are some of the most of the sureties is a president of a bank who is on the bond for $50,000. I don't suppose he could qualify in real estate to that amount, but could readily furnish the best of securities to more than double the amount named. If the Council had intended to base its judgment of the bond upon real estate why did they not do so before this late date? We really think this is an imposition. If the Council were to adopt the report we think it would be a severe burden on us to require another bond. The assessed valuation of real property is never more than 20 to 40 per cent. mended by the School Superintendnat.

On this basis, even, we consider the bond exceeds the amount required. If this bond is referred back to us I will ask how much additional security the Council wishes? There is an injustice in this whole matter. In accordance with the wishes of the Council, we bid for the city money experient to give a band wishes of the Council, we bid for the city money, expecting to give a bond not much in excess of the Treasurer's bond. The Finance Committee fixed the amount at $500,000, and I am proud to say that we gave the bond, and that its personnel is as good as any bond ever given in the city. We are willing, if the Council demands, and tells us how much more you want, to tell you whether we will give it or not."

THE SUGGESTION FOLLOWED. Councilman Hamilton said the comnittee has followed the suggestion of the Council in the investigation of the The Councilman who investigated it took in consideration personal property as well as real estate. The property as well as real estate. The assessment roll shows as the committee have reported. He said he felt that the bondsmen believed themselves worth all to which they justified, so that they cannot be accused of perjury. Every person he believed is honest in his justification, but it does not show on the assessment roll. The committee has no right to cite the various bondsmen before it.

Councilman Bonsall said he feit that the committee had done what they could and are disposed to act fairly. This bank ought to be treated as any other bank, on a business basis. If the Council states that it will require more security, it certainly ought to tell the bank deficitals what it is the council. security, it certainly ought to tell the bank definitely what it wants. OTHER MATTERS. The Land Committee reported, recommending the reference to the City Engineer of deeds for certain school lots for complete descriptions. The City Assessor reported the appointment of Fred Teele as a deputy in his office, and the appointment was confirmed.

THE GAS FRANCHISE. The special committee upon the pro-posal to grant a franchise for the laying of gas mains to George W. King and associates was reported with an amendment recommending that it be placed upon its passage. The ordinance was read. It requires 2 per cent. of the gress earnings of the company to be paid into the city treasury annually.

Councilman Hamilton inquired if this is to be construed as encouraging manufactures.

Councilman Wirsching stated that franchises are valuable, and the city is not too small to demand something more from corporations. A beginning must be made.

Councilman Shafer thought such a condition in Los Angeles means a pro-

Councilman Van Dusen did not think any company could live and pay 2 per cent. on its gross earnings.

President Frankenfield took the floor President Frankenfield took the floor upon the question, and said that he had offered an amendment to the Olive-street Railroad Company franchise, some time ago, for it to pay 5 per cent. on its gross earnings, and was denounced by one gentleman as a carpet-bagger. Mr. Frankenfield said thathecame from a State—Minnesota—where corporations pay a percentage on the earnings, and it has become a source of revenue to the State-and source of revenue to the State and cities. The time has come in Los Angeles when such a policy should be adopted. Gross earnings mean every dollar received by a corporation.

THAT BOND AGAIN. The Finance committee presented the following report on the City Bank's

To the Mayor and Common Council of the City of Los Angeles: Your Finance Committee, to whom was referred the bond of the City Bank for investigation, beg leave to report as follows: We have invest-igated the bond of the City Bank by refer-ence to the assessment rolls for the year. 1889-90, as suggested by your honorable body, and find the aggregate amount as-sessed to the several sureties to be $229.463 1889-90, as suggested by your honorable body, and find the aggregate amount assessed to the several sureties to be $229,462 in real and personal property. We think that this would represent a valuation of at least double that amount; if we take into consideration the financial standing of the principal, which we think proper, it would make the total about $550,000. Taking this view of the matter, we should deem the bond sufficient. A. N. HAMILTON, GEORGE P. MCLAIN, H. V. VAN DUSEN, Finance Committee.

MORE DISCUSSION.

Councilman Wirsching wanted to know if, in case the amount of money in the bank exceeded the amount of in the bank exceeded the amount of the bond, it would be possible to in-crease the bond, when the City Attor-ney stated that it could not be done unless such a clause was inserted in the contract, which had not been done. Councilman Bonsall thought the bond was amply sufficient, far in excess of any bond marriaged, in the city of any bond mentioned in the city charter, the highest being that of the City Treasurer, which is only $150,000, and that is considered a good and sufficient bond. He thought that the report of the Finance Committee should be accented.

port of the Finance Committee should be accepted.

President Frankenfield thought that the statement on which the committee had made its report-should be made public. He wanted it for his own satisfaction, and thought he could demand it as a right, before he could be called upon to vote intelligently on the proposition.

Councilman Hamilton did not believe that this statement should be made

"WISE SAWS AND MODERN IN-STANCES." President Frankenfield said that he

Councilman Hamilton said that he could name one bank president who is worth at least four hundred thousand say that as the bond amounts to $229, and Councilman Bousan and made it a rule of business more than the Treasurer's bond, he thought if the City Bank should give $100,000 more in real value, there could be no objection raised. He asked Mr. Childress if the bank would be willing to do that.

Mr. Childress stated that on the basis of the assessed valuation of $229, basis of the assessed valuation of $200, basis of the assessed valuation of $220, basis of the assessed valuation of $200, basis of the assessed valuation of $200 dollars, and yet he owns no real estate to state whether or not the bank will give additional security until the Council fixes an amount.

Councilman Wirsching said that if the report is adopted it virtually settles the matter. He thought the Council should hold the bank to its bid until the matter is determined.

Councilman Bonsall said he did not agree with Mr. Childress in prophesying another injunction suit as being a reason for approving his bond. The Council should not be any the less are in its judgment of the bond. But the Council requires.

President Frankenfield said the Council should know how much property the bondsmen have, subject to execution.

Councilman Hamilton said that the tions, and after some further talk by members of the Council, President Childress of the City Bank, by permission addressed the Council, saying that he had made some figures, and found that the assessed valuation of the Bonebrake-Bryson block is $218,000, when Mr. Bryson has publicly boasted that it pays 7 per cent interest on $750,000. In the matter of the property at the corner of Fort and on $750,000. In the matter of the property at the corner of Fort and Sixth streets, he found that it is assessed at $9200, when it probably could not be bought for $500 a front foot. He said the assessed valuation of the entire city and county would not average 334 per cent.

A MOOTED POINT. Several Councilmen took issue with Mr. Childress, and President Franken-field brought the debate to a close by saying that he should consider that the Finance Committee had refused to produce the statement, and content himself with simply voting against the report.

Councilman Bonsall then moved that the Finance Committee be requested to produce the statement, which motion was carried, and, after some further talk, the statement was pro-duced, and handed to the president, who, with several other members, spent some minutes in looking over the document.

The President then resumed the chair, and Mr. Childress, by permission, again addressed the Council, saying that his bond is a good one, and would compare favorably, so far as real estate is concerned, with that of the City Treasurer. He then read the list of the Treasurer and the city of the city Treasurer and the city of the city Treasurer and the city of the treasurer and the city of the city of the treasurer and the city of the ci ing that his bond is a good one, and would compare favorably, so far as real estate is concerned, with that of the City Treasurer. MESSAGE FROM THE MAYOR:

To the Honorable Council of the City of Los Angeles: I have declined to sign the contract with D. F. Donegan for furnishing teams for city use, on the ground that it is not the proper sulject m ter of competitive bids. The city should not put the employment of its men and teams in the hands of contractors, because whatever work the city may have to do should be distributed among the different owners of teams, and not concentrate the same in the hands of one man. The small amount saved to the city is not justified by reason of the hardship caused to poor men who own their own teams and depend thereon for a livelihood (and many have families) by depriving them of this work. Respectfully,

HENRY T. HAZARD, Mayor.

The message being sent, nothing more was thought about it for some time. Knickerbocker, however, concluded not to go clear to Albuquerque, stopped at Danby and went back, and right there unwittingly deepened the mystery which shortly surrounded him. The sad news cast even greater gloom over the office in this city, and two of the boys who were great cigarettes mokers, at once threw away the cigarettes they were smoking, swearing off forever. They felt sure it was cigarettes that had done the business for their friend. His many good qualities were discussed and he was sincerely mourned. A visit was made to his room, his clothes were obtained and his effects put in order. Mr. Pridham ordered 800 pounds of ice shipped to Barstow, with instructions to pack the remains in a box when they arrived there and forward them to Los Angeles. There had been a wreck on the road, and it was generally believed that Ed had been killed in the smash-up. The ice was duly shipped, and then everything had been done that could be done, until the remains arrived.

"H—I no, I saw Ed standing on platform as I came by, and he was smoking a cigarette."

The boys could hardly believe this story, however, and refused to be convinced until the next day, when, still smoking, Ed came stalking in, rotund as ever, and wanting to know what all this foolishness was about. One of the boys, who had written a touching little obituary notice, tore it up, and Ed's boys, who had written a touching little obituary notice, tore it up, and Ed's effects were taken back to his room. But he is still on ice, in a figurative sense, and the boys look at him as one raised from the dead.

THE LANCASTER CONSTABLE. The trial of Constable Joseph Johnon of Lancaster, charged with allowon of Lancaster, charged with allowing prisoners to escape, was resumed sefore Judge McKinley yesterday norning. The proceedings, were decid of much interest, and consisted aninly of a repetition of the incidents iarrated before. The four vagrants, ipon whose testimony the conviction if the defendant rests, are about as ough a looking set of young boodiums is can be imagined. Ther have all worn that the Constable allowed John Chomas, each of their number, to swap laces with Charles Raymond, and go ree.

Saw, plucked up heart and looked nore cheerful. The children ranged from a babe in arms to a boy about 8 r 9 years old, and the mother, quite a cleasant-faced woman, had her hands ull keeping them all in order. In the nain, however, the little ones were vell-behaved, and looked as if they wondered what it was all about. Should the jury feel it their duty to convict the defendant, the remembrance of Joseph Johnson and his aumerous offspring will haunt them in their dreams.

The defendant, when placed on the thand, made a general denial of the tharge against him. He said he was not present when the vagrants were convicted, and that he afterward found he commitments on Justice Hall's lesk. He called out the names of the four prisoners and four men stood orth, answering to the names called. Chese men he took to Los Angeles. He said he did not know the men, had no cason to suppose that any one would wish to swap places and serve a term in jail for nothing; and, in short, contradicted the vagrants and all their statements.

The defense attempted to make a point on the evident ignorance with which the Justice of the Peace carried on the proceedings, and go back of the commitments, showing the defects in the trial of the "vags," but the Court could not permit it.

The arguments in the case were begun late in the afternoon, and were not finished, when an adjournment was taken until today. WITHDRAWS HIS PLEA

Tuesday afternoon B. B. Owens, charged with stealing a piano from A. G. Gardner, pleaded guilty before Judge McKinley, and yesterday morn-Judge McKinley, and yesterday morning was fixed for his sentence. When the time arrived, however, he had changed his mind and withdrew his plea, entering a plea of not guilty. His trial was set for March 12th. Just what induced the change it is difficult to tell, although it is the impression that the young man ran against a snag in the hope that he would be able by pleading guilty to be assured of a light sentence. In fact that view is borne out by the statement of his attorney in open court to the effect that he had consulted with the District Attorney before the plea of guilty was made, and that the plea was the result of an arrangement with the District Attorney. There was evidently a misapprehension as to what the District Attorney said, and the defendant has chosen to take his chances with a trial.

THE WHITE-HEADED MAC. jury was impanneled in Judge McKinney's court yesterday morning to try John Abbott on a charge of robbery, and owing to a case then on trial, the case was put over until to-day. This is the case in which Abbott is accused of robbing a man near a sa-loon on New High street several months ago. Abbott is known as the "White-headed Mac," and is a disso-lute character. The case against him is regarded as very strong. The watch and chain which he snatched from his victim were afteward recovered from victim were afteward recovered from a pawnshop, and Abbott was identified by the proprietor as the man who brought them there and sold them.

THE RIGHT-OF-WAY CASE, brought by the Los Angeles, Pasadena and Glendale Railway Company vs. Wotkyns, to condemn a right of way through property in Pasadena, was resumed before Judge Shaw yesterday, and the testimony was concluded in the afternoon.

When the evidence was sill in the jury, by order of the Court, was taken out to Pasadena to make a personal inspection of the property. NOTES.

Stephen M. White, Esq., will deliver a lecture before the Law Students' Association tonight at Judge Wade's courtroom upon the subject of "Sales."

PURE BLOOD,

Jappel is the man with whom Dorsey had the trouble at the Sixth-street Park Tuesday night. The officer says that he caught Jappel in a compromising position with a young girl in the park, and when he attempted to arrest him Jappel assaulted him with a loaded cane. Dorsey then started in with his club and knocked Jappel out, after which he tried to catch the girl, but she made her escape, and when he returned to where he had left Jappel he had also made his escape, leaving his hat and cane behind him, which were brought to the station by the officer. Later the girl and Jappel got together again, and, with the unde of the girl, went to look up Dorsey, and when they found him the officer placed Jappel under arrest. The whole affair will be thoroughly ventilated in the courts.

Mrs. C. D. Stuart, of 400 Hayes St., writes, "I have for years had spells of indigestion and dis-pepsia, and tried nearly everything. Finally I took a well known Sarsaparilla. It caused pimples to break out on my face without helping me. Hearing that Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla did not contain mineral, and might act differently, Isent for it. The pimples disappeared immediately, and I had no more returns of the old spells." Although the above was written a year ago, Mrs. Stuart now attests the permanency of its effects. Says she takes an occassional dose to suppress a symptom of return and that she has perfect command over her old trouble.

THE PROGRESS OF THE WAR.

The imperiled and beleaguered "editor" of the Los Angeles Tribune is a very poor strategist, but, nevertheless, is trying to "run" the militia. This is pretty cool, considering the past record of Blackmailer Boyce as a "Gin'ral." It is only a few months since the exposure of his record compelled the Governor to withdraw his name as Commander of the First Brigade, after having been appointed, and this in spite of the most persistent efforts on Smoothy's part to secure his confirmation. Any less presumptuous fakir would consider a discreet silence the wisest course under the circum-

Does this record specially qualify the Trombone for the task of running the militia or sitting in judgment on the acts of honorable officers of the Na-tional Guard, such as Johnson, Butler, Cochran, Bonebrake, Wells, Allen, Stern, Barrett, Daniels, Russell, Willard, Owens, Jones and Osborne? The battalion will halt, come to a front, order arms, parade rest, and answer yes or no as the roll is called. The first sergeant will march to the front and center, salute, and report the re sult of the ballot.

For a doughty military editor, the commander of the Trombone's attacking column made a signal, not to say disgraceful, retreat, falling back in disorder from the advanced editorial position occupied by him en the previous day. In attempting that dangerous feat, to wit, changing front under fire, he exposed his flank in a disgusting manner; also his agility as he went flying to the rear, and laid himself open to a broadside of hot shots from the other able military editor, who is himself a staff officer, and therefore ccupies a coign of vantage which enables him to get the weather gauge on the ex-Jigadier Brindle.

CAPTAIN BAGGS.

Speaking of military courts-martial, especially in the militia, we are constrained to work off an anecdote about Capt. Baggs, the puissant commander of a body of partisan troops in the mountains of West Virginia, in the early months of the war. Capt. Baggs was a character, and his men were of Bingle copies (in wrappers, if required) .15

The charges were read to accused by the judge advocate and the august tribunal solemnly proceeded to business. Testimony was taken and a apparently made out against Capt. Baggs; but when the mountain warrior was put upon his defense, he showed the fertility of his resources. To the charge of "conduct unbecoming officer," he promptly replied that the emoralized Government had never furnished him with a conv of the Army Regulations, and that therefore he

TROOLY VIRTUOUS INDIGNATION OF AN ORGAN.

The Express, referring to those arguments against unnecessary expenditure on sewer systems which are based on the increased taxation of workingmen's homes that would result, says: men's homes that would result, says:

- Those who think to fool him by the "little homes" racket must have a poor opinion of his intelligence. The advancing of such an argament is as hypocritical as it is contemptible. Those who put it forward don't care a tinker's epithet for "the workingman's little home." Their grief over something that would give the workingman steady employment at good wages and tax him less than $1.40 to $2.80 a year is inspired by other considerations.

Really! And what, then, should be thought of those who seek to induce unemployed men to vote for an unnec essary, undesirable and expensive outfall system, under the promise that the result would be remunerative work for all, when they know that a few grasping contractors would share the visible hunt. Such wholesale destruction, if profits, hiring help wherever they could find it, at the lowest possible rate. Hew much do the Ballona advocates. who advance this argument, care for the "sons of toil" and their chances of obtaining work?

GAMBLING ON A GIGANTIC SCALE

electric wires will have to be settled. by the trust, it may be imagined that on good authority that the whole of Mr. Havemeyer's $16,000,000 of certifi- marks: cates were sold out last summer from one hundred to one hundred and twenty-five dollars per share, and he did not begin buying them back until a few days ago. The buying and selling were brilliantly managed by a famous operator, and assuming that they have regained the entire $16,000,000, it would seem that he has made for the Havemeyers one of the most gigantic

nia. More than a thousand working men, laboring steadily at good wage can generally save, during a lifetime

The possibility of such enormous sudden gains, without labor, or production in any form, is surely a great evil-a growing danger. Like a story of lottery winnings, the recital of such a deal dazzies the eyes of thou-sands, and makes them discontented with ordinary work. While we are suppressing lotteries and faro tables, it would be well to turn our attention also to the double evil of these great trusts. On the one hand, they concentrate enormous wealth in the hands of a few-often unscrupulousmen, who can use that wealth in influencing legislation to perpetuate the existence of the trusts, and to increase their power; on the other hand, they wantonly raise the price of necessaries to the consumer, for the people have to contribute the millions which go to make up these enormous fortunes.

THE SUPERVISION OF RESERVOIR CONSTRUCTION.

menting upon the disaster at Walnut Grove, in Arizona, the San Francisco Chronicle thinks that it would be entirely competent for the Legislature of California to pass a general law, prescribing the method of constructing dams in this State. The constructing dams in this State. The Chronicle says:

It might fix the width of the base and of the top, the material to be used, the form of the dam, and many other similar matters, difference being allowed, of course, for the quantity of water to be held in cheek. This being done, an inspector of dams should be provided, whose duty it should be to see the law enforced, and without whose consent and supervision no dam should be built.

This would be to create another office, it is true, but it would be no sinecure. Irrigation is becoming a more and more important matter each year, and irrigation implies the construction of dams and storage reservoirs. The inspector of dams, if he should do his duty, would earn all that he and his deputies might receive from the State, and the cost would be repaid tenfold by the added security to property and life.

It is now the correct thing for cities on a through line of travel to send advertising agents around the world. The citizens of Port Townsend have contributed $3000 of a proposed fund of $5000 to Miss Regina Rothschild of that city, who will leave Port Townsend on March 17th, to race around the world against citizen George Francis Train, who leaves Tacoma on the same day. Miss Rothschild will go East and en-deavor to circle the globe in less than sixty days, returning by way of Yokohama and Cape Flattery.

THE Council appears to be deterined to defeat the plain provision of the charter for the securing of interest upon the public money, and to go ounter to the manifest interest of the taxpayers. The bond offered by the City Bank is ample security, and should be approved. Anything for delay appears to be the programme of the council. Such action, especially in view of the present depressed condi-tion of the city finances, is most repre-hensible, and should consign all who are responsible for it to political ob-

AMONG THE POLITICIANS.

The San Francisco Star somewhat brusquely, not to say disrespectfully, beginstons, and that therefore he could not be expected to know the duties of an officer; and as to the charge of "conduct unbecoming a gentleman," he paralyzed the court by declaring that he had never pretended to be a gentleman.

Capt. Baggs was a very rough and uncouth soldier, but he was not short in his accounts. "The bearin' of this observation lies in the application because of the century, while here some months ago, openly offered to refrain from the attack which he would otherwise make on the management, provided make on the management, provided that 'his (Johnson's) uncle,' Frederic Law Olmsted, should be employed in managing the Yosemite Valley. This is an impudent lie. It sounds more like Boruck than like Waterman, but it is an unmitigated, bald-headed lie."

A reporter who saw ex-President Rutherford B. Hayes in Chicago the other day says of him: "He is aging very rapidly. His once sandy and always luxuriant beard is quite snowy and his form is becoming a trifle bent, but he dresses in quite a youthful way, and his manners always energing. but he dresses in quite a youthful way, and his manners, always engaging, are genial and pleasant. Since the death of Mrs. Hayes, the General's friends say he takes a much more active interest in public affairs and in the world about him. He traves about more, he discusses political affairs, he takes keen interest in current and contemporaneous events, and discusses everything with quite a free tongue. He has even gone so far as to recommend has even gone so far as to recommend somebody to President Harrison for an office—the which, by the way, has no been acted upon."

There is nothing which so arouse and enrages Dr. Dana of the Nev York Sun as the mention of Grover Cleveland's name. It is a red rag to the bull every time. The chairman of the Independent Committee of Balti-more having recently reported that "Mr. Gorman is an enemy of every car-disal springles of Democrace laid down linal principle of Democracy laid down by Mr. Cleveland," such as tariff re We referred a few days ago to the phenomenally rapid—acquisition of wealth by the stockholders of the Louisiana State lottery. Still more remarkable is the manner in which Mr. Havemeyer of the sugar trust cleared an enormous sum by manipulation of the stock during the past year.

Sugar trust certificates rose from $70 to $125, fell to $50, and rose again to $70, all within the year. As the Messrs. Havemeyer received about $16,000,000 of the $50,000,000 of certificates issued by the trust, it may be imagined that they secured the lion's share of the profits of the gigantic deal, or succession of deals. In fact, it is asserted tional Committee in 1884 Grover Cleveland would not have succeeded in squeezing into the White House." Whereupon the Chicago Tribune remarks: "When rogues fall out honest men get their dues. We have long had the suspicion that Mr. Blaine was not defeated by the Mugwump bolt, but by the fine Italian work of Gorman, such as he has practiced in Marriand. THE THREATENED CABLE ROAD STRIKE AVERTED.

A Conference Between Supt. Rob inson and a Committee of Employees Itesuits in an Adjustment of All Difficulties-Is That Order Withdrawn?

The differences between the employes of the cable company and Superntendent J. C. Robinson, which bore a threatening aspect yesterday morning, have been settled for the present by a compromise. This was reached yesterday afternoon by the Superinappointed on behalf of the union.

It was daylight before the union adjourned yesterday morning, but most of the men were on hand at the varitheir cars to start came around, and the road ran smoothly throughout the

The threatened strike was the general subject of conversation about town yesterday, and when Supt. Robinson arrived at his office he was confronted by a crowd of applicants for positions, and in a short time there were sufficient names down to equip the road with twice the necessary force of gripmen and conductors.

Members of the union were very reticent as to the decision reached at the meeting, and could not be induced to state the proposal their committee would make to Mr. Robinson. From some it was learned that the bone of contention was would make to Mr. Roomson. From some it was learned that the bone of contention was a special order issued by the Superintendent, in which he requested the resignation before March ist of every gripman and conductor who persisted in retaining membership in the organization.

This the men thought unjust, inasmuch as the requests preferred by them were, to their minds, in no way detrimental to the interests of the company. Supt. Robinson took a different view of the matter, and said he would hold to his decision regarding the employment of men who upheld the organization; and, accordingly, a circular, of which the following is a copy, was handed each employer.

LOS ANGELES CABLE RAILWAY COMPANY. TO M. J. C. Robinson, Superintendent
—DEAR SIR: In accordance with special rule issued February 25th to gripmen and conductors, being desirous of retaining my position in the service of the company, I hereby beg to inform you that I have with drawn from the "association" referred to.
Signed.

Some of the union men filled out and signed the paper, but by far the majority stood loyal to the association. Information reached the men during the day from several labor organizations who professed a willingness to assist the cable-road men should ness to assist the cable-road men should they strike in a just cause.

Mr. Robinson also held that the men were acting in violation of a rule which they agreed to uphold when their contract with the company was signed. This rule provides that every man in the service shall obey and respect his superior, and refrain from all communications to the discredit of any one connected with the company.

This rule, the superintendent said, was violated by speeches made upon occasions while the men were in session, and also by an appointed delegate from the union, W. R. Boyd, who presented a grievance and threatened presented a grievance and threatened a strike. The person named made an assault on the foreman at the Grandavenue power-house for which he was discharged, and again he threatened that the men would strike unless he was reinstated.

Mr. Robinson believed Boyd to be a

Mr. Robinson believed Boyd to be a representative of the union and gained the impression that he was supported by that body. Yesterday, however, he received a note from Boyd in which the writer begged forgiveness for what he had said and done, and promised to renounce the organization if he could be again placed in his former position. The request for reinstatement was immediately refused.

Between 3 and 4 o'clock the commitmediately refused.

Between 3 and 4 o'clock the committee appointed at the meeting yesterday morning put in an appearance. They were Gripmen J. Clancy. J. O'Rourke, R. S. Haupt and J. B. Ross. A conference was soon in progress between them and Supt. Robinson.

The matter was conducted privately, and after a conclusion had been reached, the reporters were informed by Supt. Robinson that everything was by Supt. Robinson that everything was settled amicably.

From what could be learned at the office of the cable company the matter was compromised by both sides making concessions. Much to Mr. Robinson's surprise the committee informed him that the actions of Boyd had not been upheld by the men and they declared he was no longer a mem-ber of the association.

Mr. Robinson said last night that the committee went away favorably dis-posed toward the formation of a benev-olent association, as suggested by him, and he felt assured that differences no onger exist.

Those members of the union who were seen last night, and especially the members of the committee, would have but little to say, as they wish to await the next meeting of the union. Several conductors called at the Times office during the evening and stated conductors called at the TIMES office during the evening and stated that Mr. Robinson had agreed to withdraw the order made by him, and in future to recognize the union. So it would seem that the two sides have a widely different understanding regarding the result of yesterday's conference.

There was no meeting called for last night, and from the present outlook the trouble is over.

SUSTAINING THE TROOPS. Their Action in Oklahoma Fully Justified. Washington, Feb. 26.—By the Associated Press. In response to the Senate resolution the Secretary of War today transmitted to Congress the papers relative to the actions of the military in Oklahoma. One nteresting feature is the charge against he military of undue and harsh exercise of authority. The officers in charge reply that they found large numbers of lawless people, and the action taken by them was necesand the action taken by them was necessary for the preservation of peace. The charges are said to have emanated from discontented gamblers and others whom the military prevented from causing trouble.

As to preventing an election on September 21st, it was done at the request of the regularly-constituted officers of the city and with a view to preventing serious trouble, which would certainly have occurred. The call for the election was issued by discontented and unruly citizens, and was contrary to the charter.

Gen. Schofield thinks that considering the delicate service required it is a matter of congratulation that it was performed so well and with so few mistakes.

A representative of A. K. Fairbank, the largest manufacturer, claimed that Congress has no power to make such a law, as the compound is plainly branded as such and is not deleterious to health.

The result of the agitation, he said, was to curtail the export demand for American lard, and unjustly give it a bad reputation. The lard export for last year fell off 55,000, 000 pounds. The proposed legislation was in the interest of a rival firm in Boston. Under existing conditions, foreigners could buy crude lard in this country, ship it abroad, adulterate it and undersell the American compound lard.

under the Wright Act, to include the water rights and canal of the Gage Canal system, is without foundation. A Press representative has investigated the matter thoroughly, finding the district to be organized includes such lands as lie above the Gage system, which are entirely separate and district from the aforesaid property. All leading land-owners under the Gage system have signed a protest against such a measure, and those citizens interested in lands above the Gare Canal have abandoned the scheme as impractical.

CORONADO WATER

The most eminent physicians will tell you that the first principle of any cure to be arrived at, is the formation of a healthy, rich blood. The body is thus enabled to effect its own restoration.

No MEDICINE known to man can produce this much desired result so effectually as Pure, Wholesome Water, such as flows from the Coronado Natural Springs. The less mineral saits a water contains, the greater is its value for table use; this constitutes much of its virtue as a remedy in Kidney allowed. The absence of potassium saits is greatly in favor of the Coronado Natural Mineral Water."—Prof. W. T. Wenzell, Chemist, San Francisco.

GAS EXPLOSION.

A Startling Accident at First and Spring Streets.
A singular accident occurred at 6:15 o'clock last evening at the corner of Spring and First streets, which ata crowd of nearly a thousand people in a short time. It was an explosion of gas, and its location was almost in the center of the intersection of the two streets in the cable rack running along First street. A track running along First street. A leak in the gas main was detected Tuesday night, and its location could not be assistanted that night nor all day yesterday. Workmen dug a trench in the street in an effort to find the leak, and one of them was overpowered by the rush of gas during the morning. He was borne away from the trench in a fainting condition, but soon recovered. The gas had from the trench in a fainting condi-tion, but soon recovered. The gas had been accumulating during all this time in the cable conduits. At the hour men-tioned a workman, it is supposed, struck a spark with his pick and a heavy explosion took place, which forced some of the manhole covers up, and flames of burning gas leaped up ten or twelve feet high. They ran along the slot-rail openings for about twenty feet, and came up in great volume feet, and came up in great volume feet, and came up in great volume from the holes dug by the workmen. People came flocking from everywhere, and the street was soon densely packed, except immediately around the flames, and the running of the Boyle Heights cars was stopped for some time. It was an exceedingly curious sight to observe an extensive fire leaping from the ground, and created considerable consternation at few voting against it. ated considerable consternation at first. THE FAIR.

Elaborate Preparations for Dis-

Arrangements for the various exhibits at the coming Citrus Fair are fast assuming shape. Secretary Gray is a busy man. He will leave tonight for Santa Ana for the purpose of stirring the people of that town up and to perfect an organization for an Orange county exhibit. Capt. Gray is confident of succeeding with his project, and if the new county does take hold and make a display, every county hold and make a display, every county in which citrus fruits are grown in the Sixth Congressional District will be entered for competition.

J. H. Todd, the gentleman in charge of the arrangements for the Pomona exhibit, was in the city yesterday. He had with him a set of the plans adopted for the Pomona display. They are very elaborate and artistic, and the exhibit made by this locality will be one of the decided features of the exhibition.

Representatives of San Bernardino Representatives of San Derharding county are expected today with a sketch of the plans for their display. The question as to the proper manner in which to decorate the Pavilion is absorbing much of Secretary Gray's time at present. Owing to the peculiar construction of the Pavilion, it is difficult to deviae a plan for the decoraficult to devise a plan for the decora-tions that will make an artistic showing, there being so much woodwork to cover up, but the Secretary promises that decorating will be done on a very elaborate scale.

It has been decided to erect a pagoda directly in the center of the hall for the accommodation of the musicians. Music will be made a special feature of the entertainments during the progress of the fair. The Arend Orchestra of 14 pieces has been engaged, and a programme of prom-enade and operatic music will be fur-nished each evening.

NOTE AND COMMENT.

ORANGE blossoms perfume the air.

THERE seems to be an impression among a few that the Committee of Seventeen proposes to nominate the next Councilman. Such an idea is too absurd to contemplate seriously. The Councilmen are to be nominated by the voters of the several wards or other

THE word license strikes a cold chill to the heart of the rabid cold-water No matter how much whisky is sold in Pasadena; let it go on. We are Prohibitionists in name, and that covers a multitude of sins. So says the Prohibitionist; but many others that if whisky is to be sold broadcast in Pasadena the persons selling it should be made to pay for the priv-

PASADENA does not want a saloon and does not propose to have one, but our Prohibition friends like to draw us into argument, and we may as well reply now and then. What has been the result of high license in Philadelphia? Since the law was passed the number of saloons has decreased from 6500 to 1865; arrests for drunkenness have decreased 45 per cent.; commitments to the House of Correction for drunkenness have been reduced a like amount. Commitments on all causes have been reduced 35 per cent., delirium tremens decreased 82 per cent. There has also been a large decrease in questionable resorts, so that the Ledger, the epitome of newspaper respectability, says: "At the present time it may be fairly questioned if there is anywhere a city of as large a population having so few ob-noxious resorts as Philadelphia." Who is our authority? No, not Bishop Neely this time, though we must confess to a weakness for church arguments against the prohibition fallacy. It is the Rev. H. F. Lee, who, after serving a number of years as chaplain of the City House of Correction, and seeing criminals every day, has become an advocate of license, on the moral and business ground that it produces the best

THESE crisp days favor walking-an exercise Americans know too little An Englishman thinks nothing of walking ten or fifteen miles, while if the Southern Californian has to go a mile he leaps upon a horse.

A meeting of the North Pasadena Reading Circle will be held tomorrow evening at the residence of C. A. Buohann, Oliver Wendell Holmes will be the author discussed. We de net walk enough, and our con-stitutions show it. Southern California is a delightful place—the paradise of the stroller-yet we rarely hear of our young men walking over to Pomona. A walking trip from here to Pala Mission would be a delight at this time of the year. The first night you would sleep at the East San Gabriel Hotel, having, if you are a newcomer, investigated the San Gabriel Mission, the old Indian homes in the vicinity. The next day you lunch at Puente, take a look at the oil wells, and in the afternoon pass some quaint old ranches, and finally arrive in Pomona for dinner, if you are a good walker. Here at the Palomares you stop a day or two, investinew beet industry, that is taking root there. The next day you stroll on to Ontario, take a run up the long drive, enjoy a picnic in the Sierra Madres, begin a somewhat tiresome walk of 25 miles to San Bernardino. This is the most monotonous part of the tramp, being across a desert-like area, though green and beautiful. If you care to make twenty or thirty miles a day, San Bernardino is reached that night, and a day or two can be well spent here. Take a run to Redlands, to Arrowhead Springs and a look at Cajon Pass. A walk will take you to Colton and a few miles farther is Riverside. where several days may be spent resting, examining the fine orange groves, the magnolia drive, the beau-tiful homes. From here you journey on and perhaps spend the night at a ranch, as you will find them all along; or, if you are a very good walker, you n pass through Warm Spring Valley and take supper with Prof. Vail at Lucerne at the head of Lake Elsinore.

Work will be renewed at once on the grounds in the vicinity of the spring, which is located not far from the Devil's Gate, the idea being to transform them into a first-class picnic resort. The city street-car line will resort. In leaving Elsinore you walk around furnish easy access to the spot, which, when the contemplated improvements are completed, will be one of the most delightful spots near town. the south shore of the lake and visit the painted rocks, and, after a 10-mile walk through a lovely country, alive with quail and roadrunners, you lunch at Wildemar, a settlement of the Friends, and a few miles beyond you reach the Murrietta Hotel. Several the fine Santa Rosa ranch with its 72 square miles, its mountains and valleys. The pext six or seven miles brings us to Temecula, and here we enter a country of great beauty; to the south is the Santa Rosa range, Smith's Mountain looming up ahead. Here is the old burying ground, referred to in "Ramona," and many points of great interest. Now we are at Pachanga—the Indian village, picturesque and quaint. Here the Indian baskets are made, and the people still grind grain on the old stone métates. Half a day can well be spent here and in inspecting the Wolf ranch and ancient graveyard—old adobes—and after a goed night's sleep you bear away for a 16-mile walk dewn the grand old days can be well spent here, visiting

The event that is receiving the greatest amount of attention at present at the Raymond is the german, which is booked for Monday night. One or more scenes are enacted every hop night, although the interested parties have not the slightest idea that anybody knows a word about it. The cozy nooks of the wide-spreading verandas are where the scenes of most touching pathos are played. Here it is that fair Juliets listen to innumerable vows of affection and adoration from stalwart, or perchance slender, Romeos, and vow in return supreme allegiance to their enthusiastic admir-ers. This can best be done by two successive ployings. be done by two successive plowings with an ordinary plow. Hoeing and Heaping.—As soon as the seed is growing up, which takes from ten to fourteen days in wot soil, and several weeks in a dry soil, the first hoeing or heaping should begin. The second hoeing follows the thinning out of the beets, and the last hoeing occurs some four weeks later. One horse-hoe with two hoes will work one horse-hoe with two hoes will work about three acres every day.

Thinning.—The thinning out of the beets in a row should begin when the beet root arrives at the thickness of one-sixth of an inch, then all the beets except the largest, which are placed six inches apart from each other in the row are removed. If they are grown too wide apart on good land, the beets grow larger, but are poor in sugar. On the other hand, if they are planted too close to each other the roots are rich in sugar, but remain small. In either case the value of the roots is less than when both extremes are avoided. Beets that are too small are very difficult to preserve, and those that are too large lose in sugar. One row in each acre should be left untouched, or only thinned, in case of any injury to the crop. This row is held as a reserve until the beet root becomes half an inch thick where all (cases is each). until the beet root becomes half an inch thick, when all canger is at an end.

Transplanting.—Should it be necessary to transplant beets from the row reserved, this should be done with a wooden borer, great care being taken not to injure the young roots when taking them up and transplanting them. This last operation is often performed by means of a transplanter, an instrument especially made for that purpose.

Raisins have become a great crop in California. The shipments last year were 33,000,000 pounds, an increase of 12,000,000 pounds over 1888, and double the crop of 1887.

An unusually large acreage will be clanted to fruit trees this season in San Bernardino county, oranges taking the lead, but all the other suitable fruits receiving due attention

For the year 1889 the dried fruits produced in this State amounted to about 42,000,000 pounds, or less than one pound for each inhabitant of the United States; and yet there are some alarmists who fear that the production of fruits in this State will soon exceed the demand.—[Ontario Observer.

LETTERS FROM FARMERS.

A Farmers' Market Los Angeles, Feb. 25 .- [To the Editor of THE TIMES. | It seems that our farmer friends suffer in the price of their products for the want of a means of dealing directly with the consumers. The latter pay enough to make a good profit to the producer, but the farmer loes not get it, and the result is often too small a compensation to encourage him in his work. The remedy seems to be easily within reach of the farmers themselves. Let them have a market of their own, where their wagons can stand through the tisy, and sell for as good a price as they can get to all who apply. Of course, purchasers would at once resort thither for their supplies, and the result would be the bringing together of producer and consumer, with the best price to the former and the cheapest to the latter. Probably a building is not necessary, but some big lot, conveniently located, where a hundred or more teams could stand through the day and display as temptingly as posthemselves. Let them have a market day and display as temptingly as pos-sible the produce which each had for sale. Such a lot as this could probably be had for a hundred dollars a month. and a hundred or more farmers co trees. Also, Mr. Huber of Iowa will seet his 20 acres on the Iowa tract to oranges, and Prof. More has set 20 acres of his land on the Iowa tract to olives.—[Ontario Record.

Riverside has several hundred acres of orange orchards which will this where it belonged. If anybody made where it belonged. If anybody made the nicest, most delicious butter in the country, and gave 32 ounces for a two-pound roll, the public would soon find it out; while the man who has a poor article and swindles 25 per cent. poor article and swindles 25 per cent.
in the weight would have to take a back seat. This seems an ideal way of putting the producer squarely on his merits, and giving him the fullest possible reward for his labor. It is easily tried. Charles A. Gardner.

The assertion is made in the New York Epoch, a journal that is especially versed in the relations of mo and politics, that it will cost the man who succeeds William M. Evarts as New York's Senator one hundred to one hundred and fifty thousand dollars. This indicates a clear recognition of the fact that New York politics is run by money, and that senatorships are a matter of barter and sale. But when such assertions are made is it not time for the people to take some steps in the premises?—[Pittsburgh Dispatch.

The Grant County (Or.), News says trustworthy reports from the Wagon-tire district show that the stockmen will lose 75 per cent. of their animals.

The Competition of Tricksters and Fakirs Need Not Be Feared-Persistent Pushing Will Win Every Time.

Los Angeles, Thursday, Feb. 27, 1800.

Trickster competition need never be feared.
Its own shallowness will aways betray it. Honest, persistent push ng will win every time. This is the age of popular and honest prices, as people are quick to discriminate between reasonable and unreasonable ones. Our immenset ade—our wonderful growth—is due to the above causes, and so long as the old fogles continue to do bus ness in the ways of the merchants of 49—so long as 100 per cent. speak but little English, and it was difficult to make out just what he said, ficult to make out just what he said, but a number of his friends and fellow-countrymen were on hand, and, as they said he gave intelligent answers to all questions, and they had known him for years, and there was no insanity in his family, he was discharged and left the courtroom. About 1 o'clock, however, Officer Hentsleypicked him up again on Main street, when he gave every appearance of infogies continue to do bus ness in the ways of the merchants of 49—o long as 100 per cent., and in some instances 250 per cent., profit is arked for every-day necessites—just so long will we continue to be applauded by the public and denounced by the old forties. Several of them woke up to the fact lately that their trade was kind of falling off, and looked around for the reason. They did not have to go far, for a few steps brought them in front off our crowded stores. Here they saw the power of low prices, coupled with strictly honest, upright dealings; here they saw the fact that we were not sitting down crying with confidence, and saving on every purchase they made; here they saw the fact that we were not sitting down crying "bard times," but were pushing, improving, enlarging and spreading out, that we could increase our sphere of purchase by schilds. when he gave every appearance of in-sanity, and he was again taken in and locked up. Sandwich will be detained for a day or two to give the physicians an opportunity to further examine into nlarging and spreading out, that we could acrease our sphere of usefulness by gaining space to other lines of popular prices which are still held by the old fogies at 100 per cent profit. Our announcement will be a bolt to the old fogies.
